

KIWANIS NEWSLETTER

March 8, 2018

Guests- Our only guest was Lt. Gov. Steve Click who made pitches for the next DCM on 3/14 featuring a membership coach, and the KI Convention in Las Vegas from 6/28-7/1. If there is enough demand, the division would charter transportation.

Sick Call- Jim Irwin returned after his shoulder surgery with his arm in a sling. Bob Kitamura is at home recovering from a 3-way coronary bypass.

Feed The Homeless (3/4)- We provided about 80 meals, including 6 children, seconds, and savers. Thanks to all who donated and served.

Board Meeting (3/7)- We donated $500 to the Veterans Support Memorial Day Concert. We will provide up to $500 for Key Leader Camp Registration. We will provide up to $500 toward expenses for members going to the KI Convention. Paul Wissler and Tom Tolbert have resigned from the club but hopefully will still help with future BBQ's.

Crab Feed- We have sold about 270 tickets which is a decrease but have sold a higher percentage of reserve seats than usual.

Key Club- The club received an appreciation patch for their fundraising for Project Eliminate.

Fines & Happy Bucks- Gary Simas did the honors. Lynn Cooper was hit for asking God to bless him as well as America when he led the song. Milt Batson gave for being late, his trip to Israel, and being club secretary. Ben McAdams was fined for unknown reasons. Rich Carsel first had no joke then came up with a sexist one. Leslie Cone thought Gary was being mean and paid for that.

Program- Our speaker was Holly Wogan, volunteer coordinator for CAPSLO. That organization provides a variety of services such as Headstart, the Maxine Lewis Homeless Shelter, the Prado Day Care Center, respite services for families of Alzheimer's patients, health services for teens and adults, and a tattoo removal program. The new center being built at 40 Prado Road will provide about 100 beds and will negate the need for overflow facilities at various churches. It will also have warming cabinets for our homeless feeding.
