

KIWANIS NEWSLETTER

July 5, 2018

Prez Hilding returned from the KI Convention in Las Vegas and reported on the elections of the various international officers. Otherwise, there were no new policy changes or programs announced.

Guests- Ben McAdams brought Nicholas Anthony who works at the Foundation for the Performing Arts Center and who is filing a new member application.

Sick Call- Ken Rodman incurred a fractured hip and Jim Nielsen's wife Judy is suffering from terminal cancer.

Board Meeting (7/2)- The membership committee is challenging the club to get 10 new members during the next year. Memberships were approved for Ralph Slocum and Mechell Vieira. They also suggested we have more off-site meetings such as the one at the Food Bank. Board elections of the usual suspects were approved for next year.

Feed The Homeless- We fed about 80 people including 25 children at our next to last session at the old shelter. Thanks to all who donated and served.

Blues Baseball- Roger Jump and Ralph Battles tried to get our club some publicity at the game on June 30th but were given a poor location outside the stadium.

Joke- Gary Simas scored with a funny about Stormy Daniels and Queen Elizabeth.

Fines & Happy Bucks- Gary did the honors. He hit Doc Steele for his song leadership (or lack thereof) and his phone ringing. Milt Batson was late and has an ailing tractor. James Shammas and Roger Jump had a dispute over going to the DCM. Roger also gave for observing the Kiwanis Centennial Garden looking good and more visible. Jim Irwin was unprepared for the Soap Box. Hilding was fined for letting Jim off the hook. Henry Rible was proud to drive a 93-year-old veteran in the Cayucos" July 4th parade.

Program- Diana Meyer gave us an update on the SLOHS Key Club. She showed photos of members of the club at Key Leader Camp, the SLO Marathon, a potluck at Meadow Park, and member Nicole who is spending a year at a Korean high school.
