

KIWANIS NEWSLETTER

July 19,2018

Doc Steele ran the meeting in Prez Hilding's absence.

Guests- Bruce Eddy of the San Jose club made his annual visit. Ben McAdams brought his son Terry. Ralph Slocum made his last visit before being inducted as a new member.

BBQ- We will be selling tri-tip sandwiches at the Filipponi Ranch Winery on Sunday.

Key Club- There is a DCM this weekend with an Olympic-style competition.

Soap Box- Bill Fieldhouse reported that we raised about $9000 from the Drive-thru BBQ. He was disappointed with response of the day timers in regard to working at the BBQ, selling tickets, and returns of unsold tickets. We must all pitch in more to ensure future success.

Joke- Lynn Cooper scored with a drunk driver funny.

Fines & Happy Bucks- Gary Simas was the extractor. Doc Steele and George Petty were fined for poor intros. Doc also got hit for losing control. Mike Johnson paid for having a private meeting. Bruce Eddy was happy to be here and for meeting Kiwanians from Nepal at the KI Convention. Lynn Cooper was fined for advertising Bull's Tavern. Larry Meek reported Ken Rodman is doing well recuperating from his hip fracture. Bart Topham was glad to be back. John Carsel was happy to be referred to as a young buck (by Bill Fieldhouse).

Program- Our speaker was Todd Porter, a Morro Bay attorney, who has written a book "Better Together-Small Group Communication and Leadership. Based on years of experience as a Little League coach and umpire, he related how planning, establishing guidelines, and teaching by peers can overcome players' fears and build teamwork.
